

Yev Barkalov

yevbar1729@gmail.com | (415) 866-7579 | GitHub: yevbar | LinkedIn: yevbar

Education

Computer Science, Rochester Institute of Technology 2019 - Present

Concurrent Enrollment, City College of San Francisco 2017-2019

Relevant coursework includes: Computer Architecture with Assembly, Data Structures and Algorithms in Java, Discrete Mathematics

Lowell High School 2015-2019

Experience

Software Engineering Intern, LaunchDarkly March 2019 - Present

- Contributing to application (React.js + Redux) as well as backend (Golang)
- Introduce APM integration for Datadog <https://docs.datadoghq.com/integrations/launchdarkly/>
- Create internal tools such as Confluence macros

Contributor, Open Source (Sourcegraph) November 2018 - March 2019

- Developed Chrome extensions for Sourcegraph
- Used TypeScript and Sourcegraph API
- Project worked on: Sourcegraph extension for LaunchDarkly, a feature flagging software

Software Engineer Intern, HiDimensional August 2018 - November 2018

- Full Stack development with a Python Flask Backend and React.js Frontend
- Utilized the Ant Design UI library
- Backend technologies used: PostgreSQL, SQLAlchemy, Heroku

Growth Engineer, Repl.it May 2018 - August 2018

- Organized both local and global meetups for Repl.it users
- Travelled across country to give talks and workshops at high school hackathons
- Engineered and helped hack new features

Lead Organizer, Hack the Fog October 2017 - March 2018

- Organized San Francisco's first high school hackathon and received recognition in the San Francisco Chronicle <https://www.sfchronicle.com/bayarea/article/Hack-the-Fog-makes-history-as-San-12729895.php>
- Coordinated sponsorships from several companies including Facebook, Google, and LinkedIn
- Brought in an attendance of 75+ students